PROBLEM SOLVING CONCEPTS

The Systematic Approach To Golf Happiness

This carefully-designed and highly useful approach to 'Mastering Golf Basics' is unique to the 'Golfing World'. Your '555 Team' humbly 'Sees Golf Differently'! Caring Breeds Creativity.

As you know, the 'Problem Solving Concepts' include ... 1) The Golfing Machine Concept, 2) The Human Tether Ball Pole Concept, 3) The Human Ratchet or Socket Set Concept, 4) The Balsa Airplane Concept and 5) The Target Lever Dead Rope Concept. These will help you!

Allow me to discuss the 'Tether Ball Pole Concept' very briefly? The eyes keep your top quiet.

The 'Laws Of Science' prevail. Newton is alive and well, regardless of our alternate opinions. 'The Mechanics Of Rotation' and 'The Geometry Of The Circle' reign supreme. If you have a moment, please Google 'The Law Of The Flail' or investigate 'Centripetal Force'.

The 'Human Upper Body Machine' ('Lever Assemblies' - Shoulder Sockets, Upper Arms, Elbows, Forearms, Wrists, Hands and The Actual Golf Club') act upon or perform against the 'Resistance or Stability of the 'Human Lower Body Machine' ('Feet, Knees, Hips, Abdomen or Trunk, Chest, Shoulders and Head') A solid footing in golf is fundamental.

This means that the 'Lever Assemblies' perform or act against the 'LBM'. We refer to the 'LBM' as stable, anchored and as the 'Heavy Footed Spinal Core'. Most golfers get far too active in the 'LBM'. We call this over-activity 'The Hula' or 'The Dance'. The more active we get in our foundation, the less 'Energy Transfer Control' ('Energy Connectivity and Conductivity') we accomplish in the 'Components' that are remote from the 'Feet'.

If the base of the 'Tether Ball Pole' were to move all over the place, the 'Orbit Of The Ball' ('Clubhead') would be unpredictable. Stability creates predictability. Golf loves 'Consistency & Repetition'. The magic plateau we all strive for is 'To Hit The Ball Where We are Looking'! We also refer to that as 'Keeping The Ball In front Of Us'. "You can do it!"
